Aida Montepulciano D'Abruzzo Marchesi de Cordano has a ruby red color with violet reflections. It has hints of ripe red fruit such as cherries and plums and floral notes of violet and rose hips. Memories of licorice. Favor is full-bodied with delicate and persuasive tannins, medium persistence. Great drinkability and pleasantness.
Food Pairings: Stuffed pasta and ragù, grilled red meats, cured meats, and medium-aged cheeses

Marchesi de'
CORDANO
— Lorcto Aprutino • Abruzzo —

The Marchesi de' Cordano winery is conceived as a place for meeting and sharing, keeping faith with the philosophy that Francesco D'Onofrio wants to convey with his products. The architecture of the cellar presents an innovative structure, made entirely of wood, warm and welcoming, which hosts tastings and meetings and from which a rich visit itinerary starts. The structure naturally narrates the daily life of a contemporary approach to production which is reflected in the products. Inside the structure, with part of the processing and bottling line totally visible, there is space for a large tasting room that can accommodate up to 70 guests.
